Tutoring Experience

With over a decade of experience, I've worked extensively with students in IB and A-Level Business, providing them with valuable insights drawn from my corporate background. I focus on helping students understand key business concepts and real-world applications, particularly in areas such as organisational behaviour and strategic planning, which align with their curriculum requirements.

My journey in tutoring started after years in corporate leadership roles, where I led teams and trained young professionals in essential business skills. This experience has allowed me to bring a practical approach to my tutoring sessions, using real-life scenarios to deepen students' understanding of business management principles.

Working with students from various backgrounds has enriched my teaching methods, helping me tailor sessions that support both exam success and career readiness. My goal is to empower students to excel in exams and prepare for future business challenges.
